

Jonesboro Municipal Plant Commission Named Jointly by Property Owners, Council

When the city council holds its public special session next Tuesday night, December 11, to hear citizens' views on the proposed expansion of Hope municipal electric plant's facilities primary attention ought to be given to setting up a public commission to operate the plant.

All these years the Hope plant has been managed directly by the city council. But today this water & light utility is a million-dollar enterprise, the largest business in our town.

It doesn't make sense to leave our greatest community asset continually exposed to the hazards of constantly changing management as typified by the city council, where in six to eight years the personnel may be completely new.

Largest and finest municipal plant in Arkansas is the one at Jonesboro. As we announced in yesterday's edition we obtained the basic operating data and the legal outline of the Jonesboro plant from the Jonesboro Evening Sun and Manager Neal Thayer of the Jonesboro municipal plant. Having discussed Jonesboro's electric equipment yesterday we aim to give a picture of the Jonesboro commission setup today.

The Jonesboro municipal plant got its start under circumstances similar to Hope's. The Hope plant began in 1890 when the city entered into an agreement with the late J. T. West of Hope Lumber company, the city buying a small generator and putting it on the lumber company's property, with the lumber company furnishing the steam to run it.

In the early days of Jonesboro there were private electric and water plants, but in 1905 the town faced the problem of building a sanitary sewer system. The city proposed to buy the electric and water plants and operate them as one unit with the projected sewer system, and the owners being agreeable this project was carried out through a special act of the legislature authorizing Jonesboro to set up a municipal improvement district for light, water, and sewage. To finance this undertaking Jonesboro borrowed $280,000, using $80,000 to build the sewage system and the balance to purchase the water and light plants. At the beginning it was necessary to collect a small tax from property owners, but the property being profitable these tax collections were discontinued permanently in 1918.

For the legal outline of the Jonesboro commission setup I am indebted to a folder prepared by Joe Clay Young, attorney for the board of directors of the Jonesboro Water & Light Plant. The folder carries the complete text of three local acts of the legislature applying specifically to Jonesboro; a general act applying to all municipal utilities; and a decree in Chancery Court for the Western District of Craighead county—these four acts and the decree constituting the laws by which the Jonesboro commission and plant are governed. The legal references are: Arkansas Act 333 of 1905; Act 8 of 1917; Act 251 of 1921; Act 208 of 1939 (this is the general act); and City Water & Light Plant of the City of Jonesboro, et al, AND City of Jonesboro, Arkansas, cross-complainant, March 5, 1948, Craighead chancery court.

Here is the Jonesboro commission setup:

A total of 15 commissioners serving without pay, nine elected by the property owners of the city, and six by the city council—one of these six being a member of the city school board.

They serve for three years, one-third of the membership being elected each year.

The commission is authorized to borrow money as deemed necessary, issuing either serial bonds or short-time notes, pledging the revenues of the municipal plant for payment.

Expenditures by the commission are regulated as follows:

First, they shall set aside each year enough money to pay all bond principal and interest falling due the following year.

Second, they shall provide for operation of the physical plants, including the setting up of adequate depreciation and reserve accounts, and the building of required extensions, repairs, etc.

Third, the remaining profits of the utility system shall be disposed of as the commissioners deem advisable.

This is a brief picture of the Jonesboro commission setup. In the 12 months ending December 31, 1951, it handled the following business:

Electric: Sales $574,780.84; net profit after depreciation and taxes $184,097.37.

Water & Sewer: Year's income $116,107.92; net profit after maintenance and depreciation $7,172.88.

Summary of the combined operations, including miscellaneous: Net profit for year ending October 31, 1951, of $203,587.26.

The Jonesboro combined financial statement shows plant and equipment worth $3,574,342.57, of which $2,023,620.91 represents the electric system.

Current assets as of October 31, 1951, were $120,325.75; current liabilities $36,092.60—and outstanding 3% revenue bonds, 1951, 1952, 1953, total $150,000.00.

The plant has a net surplus of $1,964,526.69.

For the record I should report on one point further: Although Jonesboro has standby power supplied from Arkansas Power & Light Co. the October 1951 operating report of the plant shows it bought no outside electricity in that period. But for the 12 months ending October 31 it did pay $9,744.06 for outside power. In the same 12 months it spent for production of home-generated power $159,483.59.

Allies Agree to Part of Chinese Request

Munsan, Korea, Dec. 6 (AP) — The Allies today agreed to go along with a Communist demand that only specified points be subject to inspection during a Korean armistice.

The concession was part of a new U. N. right-point plan solving the bitter dispute over policing an armistice.

While Allied troops negotiators abandoned their demand for unrestricted behind-the-lines inspections, they insisted that the checks be made by joint Allied Red teams.

The Reds reacted immediately and unfavorably — to the Allied proposal, said a U. N. spokesman, Lt. Col. Howard Levie.

The Communists want all inspections made by representatives of neutral nations. U. N. command has not formally rejected this idea. Levie said the Communist delegates repeated their old argument that the use of joint inspection teams would interfere with the internal affairs of the North Korean people.

Levie emphasized, however, that Allied negotiators did not regard the Red reaction as a rejection of the eight-point program. He said the Communists probably will have more to say when the delegates meet again in Panmunjom at 11 a. m. Friday (9 a. m. EST Thursday).

Levie predicted the Communists would offer a new or revised plan. The Communists conceded one point in Thursday's 2 1/2-hour session of the two-man subcommittee.

They agreed for the first time to take up point by point the programs each side has presented for supervising an armistice. Previously, they had insisted on discussing each plan as a whole.

The U. N. command communiqué said "the discussions which followed resulted in the reaching of understandings on only a few points."

The eight-point Allied plan provides that:

1. All hostilities cease within 24 hours after the armistice becomes effective.

2. Both sides withdraw troops from the 2-1/2 mile wide buffer zone within 72 hours, leaving only police units.

3. A military armistice commission named by military commanders be responsible for supervision of the armistice.

4. The commission have authority to check at ground, sea and air ports of entry and communication centers throughout Korea. Members of the commission have freedom of movement over all principal lines of communication. The commission also be responsible for aerial observation and photo reconnaissance.

5. Neither side increase the strength of its forces, equipment, military facilities or material.

6. Within 72 hours after the armistice goes into effect each side withdraw ground, sea and air forces from territory controlled by the other side.

7. Each side be responsible for administering half of the buffer zone on its side of the demarcation line.

8. The armistice not become effective until the military commission is organized, staffed and ready to begin operations.

The Communists previously have objected strongly to provisions of points three, four and five.

Henry Bishop, 68, Dies at His Home in Emmet

Henry Bishop, aged 68, a resident of Emmet died early Thursday at his home.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. Jim Martindale of Mandeville and a son, Ira Bishop and two sisters.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Friday at the Emmet Methodist Church.

11 Deaths in Arkansas

By The Associated Press
At least 11 violent deaths have been reported in Arkansas since Monday.

The body of a 31-year-old Negro woman, Maltie Wilson, was found in a ditch near her Pine Bluff home Wednesday.

Sid Bell, 55, of near Hector was injured fatally when he was over-run by an automobile near the Nimmons community in Clay county Tuesday night. State police reported Bell was lying on the road. The driver of the car was exonerated.

Student Steals $128 From His Teacher's Purse

A 9-year boy looted his teachers' purse of $128 at Oglesby school yesterday and $112 was recovered, City Police reported today.

Officers said the youngster confessed and told them of getting money from the rooms of other teachers previously. He hid a large portion on the railway track gave $5 to a boy and $20 to his mother.

Officers said the child's mother was very reluctant to give up the $20 and denied having it until the boy produced a witness who saw him give it to her.

It was pathetic hearing the youth crying and telling everything and his own mother insisting he was lying, one city officer said.

Reserve Cotton Stock to Be Increased

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP) — The agriculture department said today the nation should increase its reserve cotton stocks to about 5,000,000 (M) bales in view of "present unsettled world conditions."

Its announced 1952 crop goal of 16,000,000 bales, it said, would boost the Aug. 1, 1953 carry-over only to 2,800,000 bales, figure "considerably below the level considered desirable under present conditions."

Last August's carry-over of 2,179,000 bales was only the fourth since 1929 to drop below 4,500,000 bales, and despite a big 1951 crop only about 2,100,000 bales will be carried over next year. This would constitute only about a two-month supply for domestic mills, the department said.

If a 16,000,000-bale crop is produced in 1952, the department said, most of it must go to meet domestic requirements and export demand both of which, it said, will continue strong.

The department places domestic requirements at 10,000,000 bales each in the two years starting August 1, 1951, and August 1, 1952. Export requirements it placed at 5,000,000 bales this year and 5,500,000 bales next year.

The 1952 production goal of 16,000,000 bales compares with an indicated 1951 crop of 15,681,000 bales which is the 1940-1950 average.

The department's state-by-state production goals for 1952, compared with 1951 indicated production, include (1951 figure first, 1952 goal second):

Arkansas 1,339,000 bales in 1951 and 1,487,000 sought for 1952; Missouri 347,000 and 300,000.

In Every American Community Something Usually Happens to Put Flame in Christmas Spirit

By HAL BOYLE
New York (AP) — In every community across America something particular happens to put a flame to the Christmas spirit.

In Manhattan it is the annual erection of a great Norway spruce gathered at great expense and put up with prodigious effort by the merry little elves of radio city.

It takes about a week for the elves to finish hanging the lights on the tree and check the insurance liability of any late wayfarer who might accidentally short circuit his posterity by wandering through it.

But these are squire Rockefeller's problems. The first view of his big fat green tree on the horizon means Christmas just as much to the big city as the first robin bugles in spring.

Right now the white star of hope is riding high on the tree and the electricians are betting each other overtime pay that the whole blinged thing will be lit up well before Santa Claus takes the place of Hopalong Cassidy.

Oh, but once that tree shows up the midtown people let go. They begin to believe in green boughs. . . good will to man. . . peace on earth. . . and buy-what-you-want-and-you — don't have to pay until February.

It stirs the masses to seeing and buying. It does the same thing to the classes. The benison of Christmas cheer reaches to all.

There is a gladness about it to most, a highjump of the spirit. But there is also a sadness about it to many.

For some men look down from their tall towers at the Christmas tree. And it reminds them they

Death Toll in Philippine Volcano Eruption Hid Under a Smoking Blanket of Lava

Mahinog, Camiguin Island, Philippines, Dec. 6 (AP) — Flaming Hibok-Hibok volcano hid its toll of dead under a smoking blanket of ash which rained for the third successive day on seven burned villages.

So far 200 bodies have been recovered. Official estimates say 500 more probably are buried in a six-square mile area covered by lava and volcanic ash.

It may be a week before total casualties in Tuesday's eruption are known.

Poisonous fumes rising from molten lava and red hot ash drove search crews from the stricken villages on the charred slopes of Hibok-Hibok.

Two new blasts shook the volcano Wednesday feeding the sulphurous pall of smoke hanging like an umbrella over the mountain. They were the third and fourth eruptions.

Searchers who approached the buried villages said they saw scores of burned bodies in the hot blanket of ashes. The victims had been struck down by the volcano's deadly rain as they fled.

A correspondent of the Philippine news service on Camiguin Island said he saw dogs fighting over burned bodies near one village.

Ten thousand people crowded into this little sea-side town of 3,000 waiting for the governor to decide whether they could be evacuated to nearby Mindanao Island.

(Philippine news service said 10,000 of the island's 45,000 people already had fled.)

Refugees crowded into Mahinog, included almost the entire 7,000 population of Mambajao, largest town on little Camiguin Island.

A Mambajao grade school teacher, Sarah Romualdo, described their flight. She said terror drove them into Mindanao sea, where they stood for hours waiting for rescue. Villagers had paid little attention to a landslide on the slopes of Hibok-Hibok Monday. That was common.

But Tuesday morning, while Miss Romualdo was teaching her third and fourth grades, "there was a loud noise like an explosion."

"We could see a huge cloud of smoke shooting up from the crater with red flashes of flame streaking through it."

"The wind was blowing from the south and the smoke and a dark cloud of ashes drifted our way. In only a minute or two a fine rain of ashes began to fall."

"But we could tell that the worst part of the ashes were falling only as close as about two kilometers from Mambajao."

"That was a little over a mile away. So the townsfolk went to work helping those in the stricken area while lava boiled over the crater rim, and flaming ash burned trees on the mountain slopes."

At 7 o'clock that night the volcano erupted again, blasting open a new vent. The volcano, in the center of the 13-mile long island, blazed so brightly it lit up Mambajao on the north coast. Then came the terror.

"We could see ashes, rocks and lava being shot out of the new hole amidst flames," Miss Romualdo said. "Hot ashes began to fall on Mambajao."

"Almost everybody rushed into the water where we stood and gazed back at the awful sight."

"Lava began to run down the slopes, glowing fiery red. Explosions threw up rocks from the surface. Flames flared high along the edge of the lava flow as trees were engulfed."

"Then the smoke and clouds shut out the view. But we still could see a red glow."

"After today," an air force briefing officer said, "there is every indication that our close support should substantially reduce the mortar and artillery fire being received by U. N. forces in this sector."

The briefing officer, Maj. C. F. Brown of Tampa, Fla., said photo planes pinpointed the big Communist guns in the last few days.

Thursday morning, Allied fighters-bombers hit Red guns with the works — rockets, jettied gasoline fire bombs, half ton high explosive bombs, and 500 pound fragmentation bombs which explode in the air.

Close associates said he is following developments at Washington with intense interest and a willingness to "let the chips fall where they may."

These associates said Mr. Truman did not request yesterday's resignation of Charles Oliphant as chief counsel to the internal revenue bureau, but that he knew that the resignation was coming.

Because Oliphant announced his resignation before it reached the White House, there will be no formal letter of acceptance from the President announced here. This is a White House rule.

Only last Thursday, Mr. Truman told a news conference he had no facts to justify any action as to Oliphant. He added he couldn't act without evidence.

In resigning, Oliphant said he did so because of "validation x x beyond the point of human endurance."

Aides said the President is reading carefully testimony before a house ways and means subcommittee conducting the congressional phase of the investigation into tax scandals.

Mr. Truman told a news conference here he wants to get to the bottom of the situation and that any person found at fault will have to suffer the consequences of their wrong doing.

Subsequently, highly placed aides said Mr. Truman had quietly sent out word that he wants a genuine house cleaning" of any officials whose outside activities may be of such a nature as to embarrass his administration.

Last month he fired T. Lamar Caudle, assistant attorney general in charge of the justice department tax division, for outside activities he considered incompatible with the duties of his office."

Mr. Truman is not holding a news conference today. In Washington he normally meets with the press on Thursday, but the Key West schedule of news conferences is irregular.

Race Petitions
Again Delayed

West Memphis, Dec. 6 (AP) — A Dixie Downs, Inc., official has announced that petitions for the proposed Crittenden county race track election probably would be filed sometime this month.

The official, who would not be quoted by name, said yesterday that this would allow the 20-day waiting period to come during the holidays.

"We'd all rather wait and have the election after the holidays so as many as possible can participate," he said.

The election requiring the voters' approval of the track was a stipulation of the state racing commission in granting the franchise.

Reynolds Company Representative to Visit Hope

A Chamber of Commerce committee went to Little Rock last night and talked with C. D. Blackwelder, vice-president in charge of engineering for Reynolds Metal Co., on the prospects of locating a new plant in this section.

Making the trip were Ray Lawrence, C. C. director, Syd McMath, John L. Wilson Jr. and Basil York.

Facilities available here were listed by the Hope men and the result will bring a representative of the Reynolds Company here for an investigation in the near future.

U. S. Airmen
Hit Guns on Front Line

Seoul, Korea, Dec. 6 (AP) — Allied airmen made 107 attacks on front line Communist field guns today in an all-out campaign to make Korea's twilight war even quieter.

The abrupt change in United Nations air support tactics came as American jets lunged with the Red's 11th successive day — a new record for continued aerial warfare.

One Red jet was reported shot down, one probably destroyed and another damaged. The air force said no Allied planes were hit.

Pilots who hit Red artillery said they destroyed 35 guns on the western front.

This would be the equivalent of more than a whole Red artillery regiment's guns. Others were damaged.

Red guns have been hit since U. N. infantry since the twelfth began Nov. 28.

"After today," an air force briefing officer said, "there is every indication that our close support should substantially reduce the mortar and artillery fire being received by U. N. forces in this sector."

The briefing officer, Maj. C. F. Brown of Tampa, Fla., said photo planes pinpointed the big Communist guns in the last few days.

Thursday morning, Allied fighters-bombers hit Red guns with the works — rockets, jettied gasoline fire bombs, half ton high explosive bombs, and 500 pound fragmentation bombs which explode in the air.

That was the closest thing the Allies have mounted to a big attack since ground action died down last month.

Eleventh Army headquarters reported only one Communist patrol clashes and sporadic artillery fire on the eastern and western fronts Thursday.

In central Korea two Red platoons drove Allied troops from an advanced position southeast of Kumsong, before daylight. The U. N. infantrymen got it back in a counterattack three hours later.

In 11 days of jet battles over North Korea, the air force reports 33 Red planes destroyed, two probably downed and 32 damaged, a total of 67. For the war the total is 453 — 133 destroyed, 27 probable and 293 damaged.

Thursday's first battle started when 11 U. S. F-80 Sabre jets, escorted by a photo reconnaissance jet, tangled with about 40 MIGs over Samanju.

The series of dogfights began at 25,000 feet and lasted about 10 minutes. Lt. Charles S. Christlison of Los Angeles scored the kill. It was his first.

Lt. Alfred W. Dymock, Jr., of Grants Pass, Ore., reported he damaged a MIG in a brush between 18 American jets and nine MIGs.

Another 60 MIGs were sighted about the same time, but Allied pilots said they were "not very aggressive."

Far to the south of the quiet front lines Red guerrillas caught South Korean troops in a sneak attack.

The Republic of Korea (ROK) troops were closing in on an estimated 2,000 guerrillas in the Mount Chiri area when 300 men, 200 of them armed, hit the ROKs from the rear.

A government spokesman said the action occurred about noon Wednesday and continued Thursday.

Since the South Korean drive on the guerrilla bands started Dec. 1, the ROKs have reported 188 Red killed and 639 captured. A spokesman said another 220 surrendered.

Says Senators Can Seek Any Office

Little Rock, Dec. 6 (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ike Murry said the Arkansas Supreme Court's ruling on re-districting apparently will permit seventeen Arkansas senators to run for any office they wish next year.

Under the court's decision, terms of all senators will expire next year. This may leave them free to run for any office, Murry said yesterday.

The seventeen senators whose terms were cut in half by the ruling previously were barred by an Arkansas constitutional amendment from being appointed or elected to any other state civil office.

Revenue Bureau Probe Brings Flat Denials

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP) — Leslie Sale Miami broker denied today he had ever told Abraham Teitelbaum or anyone else that his father-in-law, Frank Nathan, was "a blackmailer."

Teitelbaum, a Chicago lawyer, had quoted Sale as using that term with reference to Nathan.

That was in Teitelbaum's testimony Tuesday to a house ways and means subcommittee that Nathan and Bert K. Naster, Holly wood film star, business man tried to shake him down for $500,000, under threat that he would have "troubles" unless he retained their services. Teitelbaum said they represented they had connections with a Washington "clique" of high officials.

Brought before the committee and put under oath, Sale was asked:

"Did you ever in substance say anything of that sort?"

Sale: "No, I did not say it to anybody at any time about my father-in-law or Mr. Naster. I had no reason to make such a statement."

Nathan himself, in the witness stand yesterday, called Teitelbaum's story a "dirty, filthy lie."

With the witnesses, all sworn to tell the truth, finally confronting one another, Chairman King (D-Calif.) served notice last night that the record of the hearings would be sent to the justice department for consideration of whether there should be prosecutions for perjury — lying under oath.

Sale was accompanied to the stand by a Black, a lawyer as counsel for Nathan.

Teitelbaum was backed up in many details by testimony also on Tuesday, from a woman who identified herself as Mrs. Shirley Menkin of Chicago and Miami.

Sale was asked about his acquaintance with her.

Sale said he never knew Mrs. Menkin by that name until he testified before the committee and knew her as Mrs. Teitelbaum, he said.

"No, sir, never in my life," he replied, when asked if at any time previous to the hearing had he known the woman as Shirley Menkin.

He knew her well, too, he added, having once borrowed $200 from her.

Charles Oliphant, one of the officials whose names were brought into the hearing, resigned yesterday with criticism of the "King subcommittee" for the way it allowed the story to be put on the record "without inquiry or without a shred of evidence to link my name to the alleged plot."

Oliphant, quitting as chief counsel of the bureau of internal revenue, said in his letter of resignation to President Truman:

"I find it beyond the limits of my endurance to protect my name and reputation to protect my office I hold in the face of baseless and scurrilous charges x x x."

At Key West, Fla., it was announced that Oliphant's resignation from the $14,000-a-year job would be accepted. Close associates of Mr. Truman said the resignation was not requested.

In announcing his decision to send the record of the hearing to the justice department, King said: "It is clear that in the past hours one or more persons have perjured themselves before the committee."

Weevil Held But Other Pests Thrive

Memphis, Tenn., Dec. 6 (AP)—Cotton's arch enemy, the boll weevil, was held in check by strong control this year. But other cotton pests thrived.

That was the general opinion of some 600 planters and entomologists who wound up the fifth annual cotton insect control conference here yesterday.

Weevil damage in 1951 was figured at less than that recorded in either of the two previous years. But bollworm, pink worm, aphids, thrips and spider mites caused serious losses.

Recommendations of various chemicals for pest control ended the two-day convention, sponsored by the National Cotton Council.

A new chemical, heptachlor, was favored for weevils and, mixed with other poisons, for other pests as well. Other chemicals recommended in the weevil fight: DDT, hexachloride, endosulfan, and malathion.

DDT was listed as the best chemical to fight bollworm, with taxol, a second, 1957 also was recommended at the best poison against pink boll worms.

The conference stressed the importance of care in handling the highly toxic poisons now being used in pest control. It urged that farmers be trained in their use, where possible.

The "Mino" Venezolani means "Little Venice," according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

U. S. Likely to Revise Foreign Military Aid

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—The United States may revise its future foreign military aid program to put more emphasis on a drive to promote European political and economic unity.

No firm decision has been made yet. But key administration policy makers are worried over what they regard as a definite slowdown in Western Europe's progress toward unity.

Some American foreign aid experts are reported convinced the U. S. should condition future money grants on solid European promises to take specified steps within a certain period of time.

Whether a timetable for Europe to follow will be included in future legislation appears doubtful. Other equally influential administration planners believe European governments would regard this as an indication and interference in their sovereign affairs.

But nearly all administration specialists on this question appear convinced that the United States should forcefully remind Europe of America's continuing interest in European unity.

A group of senators and representatives who attended last month's meeting of the European consultative assembly at Strasbourg, France, criticized Europe's failure to move more quickly to

MAN'S BODY FOUND

Hopewell, Dec. 6 (AP)—The body of an unidentified man was found in a creek beneath a railroad overpass here last night by a group of coin hunters.

Justice of the Peace H. L. Muston said a preliminary investigation showed the man apparently fell from the railroad tracks and drowned.

The only identification on the man's body was Arkansas driver's license showing the name Bill Murray, 32.

He was found in the creek near the railroad tracks and drowned.

One of them, Senator Hickenlooper, told newsmen today that the attitude of some U. S. officials that "we should refrain from guiding the policies of countries receiving American aid as a 'policy' policy."

Hickenlooper said he was "quite impressed" with the initial steps being taken by the consultative assembly to bind Europe together, but he said an evident reluctance of Great Britain to take part may well be fatal to the idea.

He and the other legislators who attended the Strasbourg sessions told the European representatives in effect that the U. S. would not continue to finance a divided Europe indefinitely.

Richard Russell, Jr., acting Marshall plan chief, took an even stronger line in a speech Monday. He blamed the slowdown in progress toward unity in part on the U. S. claiming the administration has given Europeans the impression it is not interested exclusively in rearmament.

Hempstead Convict Is Paroled

Little Rock, Dec. 6 (AP)—Sixty convicts, including a former Batesville policeman, have been paroled from the Arkansas penitentiary.

Christmas pardons were awarded to 130 other prison inmates as the state parole board yesterday.

The former policeman is Jesse Long, who was sent to the state prison from Nov. 20, 1950, to serve a three-year sentence for voluntary manslaughter.

He was convicted in the fatal shooting of Tom Williamson, 27, also of Batesville, the night of June 21, 1949.

Long and another officer stopped an automobile in which Williamson was, his wife and another couple were returning to their homes after attending a baroque. A quarrel developed and Williamson was shot to death.

Other convicts paroled, with county in which convicted, date of sentence, charge and length of sentence:

William Jack Armstrong, Ouachita and Columbia, Nov. 20, 1949, assault to kill, robbery and burglary and grand larceny, 21 years.

Clen Bice, Arkansas, Nov. 10, 1950, forgery and uttering, three years.

William Carson, Clark, July 20, 1951, manufacturing liquor and possessing still, one year.

Henry Davis, Jefferson, Feb. 9, 1951, burglary, two years.

Forest Dobbins, Arkansas, Feb. 17, 1947, burglary, five years.

Tracy Ford, Miller, Dec. 1, 1942, murder, 21 years.

Garland Lee Goode, Pulaski, Aug. 1, 1949, burglary, seven years.

Robert H. Hargett, Hempstead, Jan. 2, 1950, grand larceny, five years.

Nathaniel High, Union, Oct. 19, 1942, second degree murder, 12 years.

Steve Hodges, Union, April 20, 1951, grand larceny, one year.

Leroy Hughes, Phillips, Dec. 4, 1950, burglary and grand larceny, three years.

Clarence Lee Lowallen, Garland, Sept. 12, 1944, robbery, 12 years.

Wayne Robertson, Arkansas, March 11, 1948, voluntary manslaughter, seven years.

Guarantees Eisenhower Will Run

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—Senator Tobey (R-N.H.) said today "I guarantee" that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will let his name go before the voters in New Hampshire's presidential primary next March.

Tobey's flat statement that the general would disappoint his Republican backers by refusing to be represented in that contest came amid new attacks on the Truman administration.

Senator Duff (R-Pa.) a leader of the organized Eisenhower-for-president Republican group, declared "The Democrats must be thrown out" of office in the 1952 elections, and he added that Eisenhower is the man who can assure it.

Duff set forth his views in a speech last night at an Eisenhower rally in Manchester, N. H. The senator said that under the Democrats' rule in Washington "the tax scandals, the bank coats and the five per centers have made an aroma that has reached heaven and it has to be changed."

Criticism of the administration came also from a southern Democrat, Senator Byrd of Virginia, who joined with a Republican, Senator Taft of Ohio, in accusing President Truman of trying to take the country down the road socialism. Taft is an avowed candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Byrd and Taft both addressed the American Medical association in Los Angeles last night.

Tobey, long an Eisenhower man, was asked by reporters whether he felt New Hampshire citizens would get a chance to vote for the general in the state's primary March 11, the first in the nation.

"I will guarantee he will be in the primary," Tobey replied.

Referring then to the national Republican nominating convention to be held in Chicago next July, Tobey said:

"I am confident Eisenhower will be available, will be nominated, and then will be elected in November."

Eisenhower so far has declined to say publicly whether he will be a candidate, or whether he is a Republican.

Tobey's avowed confidence that Eisenhower will be the Republican presidential candidate next year was echoed by Senator Carlson (R-Kan.) another friend and booster of the general.

Just back from Europe, where he conferred with Eisenhower, Carlson told a reporter in New York yesterday:

"I was working for the general's candidacy before I left and I'm starting again tomorrow morning. And I expect him to be nominated and elected president on the Republican ticket."

Carlson said he and Eisenhower discussed politics but he added he did not intend "in any way to quote the general."

Tobey was asked how he could guarantee that Eisenhower will be represented in the New Hampshire primary. Tobey replied he couldn't elaborate on that.

"I think the air will be clarified between now and the primary," Tobey added, indicating he looks for Eisenhower to speak out in the meantime. The general's backers do not expect him to do so, however, until he has completed his

New Note on Fliers Handed to Hungarians

Budapest, Hungary, Dec. 6 (AP)—The United States handed a new note to the Hungarian government today concerning the U. S. air force cargo plane forced down by Soviet fighters in western Hungary Nov. 10.

The U. S. already had requested assignment as supreme commander of Atlantic defense forces in Europe.

release of the four-man plane crew in a note delivered Dec. 4.

Today's note, a legation spokesman said, was a formal reply to a Hungarian accusation December 3 which alleged the plane violated Hungary's border with "predetermined intention" and aimed at parachuting Yugoslav "diversionists and spies" into Hungary.

He said, however, he was not in a position to reveal the contents of the note, which was delivered this morning by U. S. Charge Affairs George Abbott personally to Deputy Foreign Minister Andor Beret.

Officials in Washington already have denied the Hungarian charges and speculated that the pilot of the plane, which they said was on a routine flight from Germany to

The First Methodist Church will have a Christmas dinner at the Barlow Hotel on Monday night, Dec. 10 at seven o'clock. A gift will be packed for the Vashiti Girls School in Thomasville, Georgia. All members are urged to attend and bring a gift.

The four circles of the women of the First Presbyterian Church will meet Monday, Dec. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Claude Tillery with Mrs. David Waddle as co-hostess. A Christmas story, "The Gift of the Littlest Magi," will be given by Mrs. Sam Strong after which an offering will be taken for Wanda Staley, Missionary to India. Christmas gifts will be exchanged as each member is asked to bring an inexpensive gift.

Lula McSwain WSC Studies Latin America

The Lula McSwain WSC of the Emmet Methodist Church met on Monday, Dec. 3, to complete the study of Latin America.

Mrs. J. W. Rushing led the study which started Nov. 15. The devotions were led by Mrs. Scott Ross who was assisted by Mrs. Alfred Hickey, Mrs. J. M. Johnson and Mrs. Joe Youmans. Mrs. Shelby Jones reviewed the book "The Wreath of the World." Mrs. Denman Wyke took the group on an imaginary trip through a mission in South America.

At the close an offering was taken which goes to the Lima High School, Lima, Peru.

Girl Scout Council Meets Wednesday

Girl Scout Council met at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon at the City Hall.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Miss Mabel Ethridge. It was reported that a Christmas tree will be up at the Little House by December 10 for the benefit of all the troops. Mrs. Harry Shiver reported six scout troops and four brownie troops active.

The next meeting will be held the first Wednesday in February.

Women's Missionary Society Continues Season of Prayer

Continuing the Season of Prayer for Foreign Missions, Mrs. Aaron Tollett, program chairman for the week, presented Mrs. A. A. Halbert as the leader in charge for Thursday morning.

The meeting was opened with singing the WMS song of the year "All Hail the Power." This was followed by singing "Ye Must Be Born Again." Mrs. Halbert, following the theme of this weeks Season of Prayer "Unto You a Savior is Born" presented the following program: The Devotional, John 3, was given by Mrs. George Young. Prayer for the missionaries and a Little Moon Christmas offering was also taken by Mrs. Henry Haynes. Mrs. W. H. Gunter gave "What Shall We Do With Our Christmas Offering in South America?" "A Little Boy Who Was Given Away" was told by Mrs. E. C. Sterling. Remarks of the Clyde Hankins' work in South Brazil was given by Mrs. Henry Haynes. The song "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" followed by prayer for the missionaries by Mrs. Aaron Tollett closed the meeting.

A Little Moon Christmas gift offering is taken each morning. The program for Friday morning from 9 to 10 o'clock is in charge of Circle No. 5 with Mrs. Gus Haynes, circle chairman, will close this weeks "Season of Prayer." All WMS members are again reminded to bring or send their Christmas gift offering for Foreign Missions and also to bring or send their canned goods for Christmas boxes for the needy.

Production Praised by Committeemen

Washington, Dec. 6 (AP) — The senate-house defense production committee today praised top government officials for "an outstanding job of defense mobilization."

The joint two-party unit unanimously commended the defense planners for having "accomplished the unprecedented feat of striking a happy medium between military preparedness and a healthy national economy in a colossal war of nerves."

The committee declared it "refuses to be alarmed at the unconfirmed reports of failures to maintain a minimum of national safety."

A committee aide said that was an allusion to findings by the senate armed services preparedness subcommittee, which said in a report last week:

"Deliveries on defense hard goods — planes, tanks, ships and guns — have fallen dangerously behind schedule. . . . We are not achieving as rapidly as possible the minimum necessary force essential for the security of the United States."

Both the joint committee and the preparedness subcommittee were set up to keep an eye on defense production. Each unit operates independently of the other.

The joint committee said in its report today it agrees with Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson, who told the group last week the munitions program is making all the progress that could reasonably be expected. At the same hearing, acting Secretary of Defense William C. Foster went along with Wilson on that.

"Under the circumstances," the joint unit said, "your committee cannot reasonably conclude that the nation has failed to maintain its minimum military strength in an effort to place butter before guns."

The committee's survey — begun several weeks ago — deals in detail with the methods of mobilization planning and the allocation of scarce materials for defense production. Much of the report, however, is a reply to assertions made by the preparedness subcommittee, although that group is not mentioned by name.

The preparedness subcommittee, for example, said its report "spells out for the American people the

DOROTHY DIX

Misses Courting Days

"ALL HE WANTS . . ." — If Santa Claus will just bring Paul Cecil, of Cincinnati, Ohio, a couple of new front teeth, it will complete his happiness. He's pretty happy now because loss of the teeth and a couple of bruises were the only injuries he suffered when he jumped out from behind a parked car and was struck down by passing auto.

Dear Miss Dix: I am 21 years old and have been married almost two and one half years. I cannot seem to get used to the fact that my husband is not going to treat me the way he did when he was a perfect one if he did not argue over this matter. He tells me that every man changes after he marries, but I don't think it is fair to give a girl such a big build up, then marry her and take every thing for granted. He is a good husband otherwise, considerate doesn't drink or gamble, works hard. My only complaint is that he doesn't show his love for me as much as I think he should. Am I wrong in thinking he is unfair because he no longer shows me the same love and affection as he did when we were courting, or should I take it as part of married life and get used to it?

Answer: Wouldn't life be horrible if you had to live on a steady diet of cream puffs and marshmallows? Well, a marriage made up of nothing more substantial than love kisses twenty-four hours a day would get pretty monotonous, too. You dream of nothing but the joys of courtship is putting herself in the same class. Marriages entails responsibilities — a fact overlooked by too many youthful brides. It is give and take. You expect only to take.

POPULAR GUY

Yokohama, Japan, Dec. 6 (AP) — There's one American infantry private in Korea who knows logistics — and the female heart. He wrote the Christmas shopping service established here and ordered eight identical gifts for the girls in the United States. With each he sent this message: "I will love you always."

you learning any household art that will aid you in adding to your home? Or do you spend the day dreaming about the courtship days of two and a half years ago with thinking up new reproaches with which to berate your poor husband when he comes home? You are supposed to be grown up when you marry, and a grown up woman—even one as young as 21—can think of lots of things to do besides romancing. Naturally you want your husband to love you, and he undoubtedly does. But you can't expect him to show it every minute of the day with flattery and petting. He is providing good support for you, and all he gets in return is nagging. Is that fair exchange? Your childhood is over, Mrs. L. Begin now to be a real helpmate and wife.

Dear Miss Dix: Do you think it is right for a wife to write love letters for her sister to her boy friend? My wife has been doing this for a good while and although her sister can't write too well, I think if she loves her boy friend she should write her own letters. I am very jealous of my wife and I don't think she should write these letters for her sister. The boy friend is in the Marines.

Answer: Of course your sister-in-law should be writing her own letters. I'm sure if her boy friend knew of the deception he would be as annoyed as you are. There really is no great harm in your wife's helping her sister out, however. The sister is simply resorting to any means to make a good impression on her Marine. Not an uncommon feminine falling, either. I might add, you are more upset over the matter than its importance warrants. I'm sure if both ladies knew how perturbed you are, Sister would take over her own correspondence.

Dear Miss Dix: I have a wonderful wife and 15-month-old baby. Although my wife takes her to a baby doctor, she does not follow his directions, especially in the matter of feeding. The baby is whatever we have, and for my opinion, enough vegetables come from another country where babies are fed regularly and grow lots of fruit and vegetables. I'm afraid she will grow up nervous if she isn't properly fed now. Answer: Your wife is making a big mistake if she doesn't follow her doctor's orders on the feeding of her child. With baby vegetables so readily available, there's no excuse for a baby to lack any of them.

To satisfy yourself as to the doctors directions, why not go with your wife the next time she takes the child to the doctor. You can then ask any questions you wish and after the visit will probably feel much better about the whole situation.

Vatican City, Dec. 5 (AP) — Vatican sources expressed regret today that Yugoslavia had attached a condition to the release of Archbishop Stepinac.

These sources said it was good to hear that Msgr. Stepinac was out of prison. But one informant close to the Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano commented that Stepinac's release was a

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

London Although the late Lord Hewart, lord chief justice of England, expressed no particular interest in American bureaucracy, his exposure of government by lawless executives in England can apply to the rebellion of the Marshall girls, of Marshall, Tex., who have begged the U.S. treasury in vain to give them their day in court. The Marshall girls refused to pay the social security tax on household help. They also refused to collect the money which these employees are alleged to owe for old-age pensions and other "benefits" which they may never collect.

The Marshall girls did make "returns" to the treasury and that, I think was a mistake, because they thus gave the treasury a statement of amounts. The treasury then seized these amounts, all of which are petty, by direct action against the victims' bank accounts. Thus, to force the issue, the girls must sue the treasury, and the federal court may dismiss their demands on the ground that the money involved is beneath the notice of the courts. On the other hand, if the girls make no returns for the next time the payments fall due, the treasury will have no basis for claims against their bank accounts. It may have to sue for accounting or go to the grand jury for criminal indictments. In either of these events, the treasury's case might be thrown out by the judge, and the system would collapse.

The British courts seem to have no rule against triviality. In recent days a boy of 15 swiped five pence, approximately a nickel, American, which was returned to him by mechanical error when he tried a number on a public phone, got no answer and asked for his money back. He had thrupence coming, but eight pennies tumbled out. The huge machine of British justice clanked into action and he was fined 15 shillings. In another case a poor kid of 23 swiped two cans of fruit from a grocery for his wedding feast and was fined seven pounds. In a third case, a young soldier took a couple of pennies from a poor box and was laid by the heels. But if no case of theft is beneath the notice of English jurisprudence, Lord Hewart plainly told us in "The New Despotism," his book on bureaucratic government, that a great field of justice involving enormous values in money and property has been fenced off from the jurisdiction of the courts.

A child can become a criminal for not returning a nickel thrust upon him by the government's own mistake. But a bureaucratic can steal millions in the king's name with the written authority of parliament. The condition that alarmed Lord Hewart existed 33 years ago and many worse laws have been adopted since by a sloppy parliament which puts the ruled party above the crown, the people and itself.

The British also have a social security law which compels the people to pay money toward pensions which they do not want and may never get. As in our case, this autocratic confiscation of the people's own money was authorized by legislative action for the political benefit of the party in power. There was no demand from the people. The proposition was a socialist vote-bait. The insurance "contract" in the United States has been changed many times by congress, without the knowledge of the people. In time the whole farce must blow up because the "fund" has been bankrupt and non-existent from the start. Nevertheless, our congress gave the treasury authority to seize money from bank accounts of the people without the bother of convincing a judge that the "contract" was valid or that the amount claimed had any basis in the victim's books. To seize the money, the treasury just fills in some blanks of a standard form and hands it to the banker. If the banker had character he would refuse the money and make the treasury come into court and prove its claim. That would lead to the supreme court, which might explode the fraud although at this late date and considering the shock, the present court might find some serpentine thoughts to uphold the swindle.

The British opponents of their version of this farce have patiently argued that no contract is valid unless both parties consent. They insist that they should be allowed to "contract out" or exclude themselves from the blanket coverage. Our people do not argue legal points. The sporadic and always insulting opposition to the Marshall girls holds them up to hatred on the ground that they are rich by comparison with their part-time housemaids and Saturday night sitters, and ought to be ashamed to quibble over a few dollars to make them secure when they are old and worn. This is typical of the propaganda which the British Socialists inflame in answer to every unanswerable criticism of their brand of Hitlerism.

The most important fact to the people of both nations is, however, that congress and parliament, acting in each case for the self-interest of the party in power, have nullified rights of the whole people and made it impossible for them to try the issues in court.

Says Ike Ready for Nomination

Little Rock, Dec. 5 (AP) — An official of the National Federation of Young Republicans says Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is "ready and willing" to seek the GOP nomination for president in 1952.

"There is no question in my mind that he (Eisenhower) is available," said James P. McKillips Jr., of New Orleans, vice chairman of the Young Republicans organization.

McKillips who spoke at a meeting of Young Republicans here yesterday predicted that General Eisenhower would fight actively for the Republican nomination.

McKillips is devoting his fulltime in support of Eisenhower for president on the GOP ticket.

Police Fight Iranian Reds, 3 Persons Die

Tehran, Dec. 6 (AP)—At least three persons were killed and more than 200 injured today in a five-hour battle between 5,000 yelling Communists and 2,000 police and troops backed by angry mobs of Nationalists.

It was the bloodiest violence in Tehran since June, when riots resulted in more than 20 dead.

Police and troops got control of the situation early this afternoon, after using tear gas, fire hoses, rifle butts and clubs. At least two rioters were wounded by police gunfire, although most of the police fired into the air.

Many of the injured were reported in serious condition and the toll of dead may rise.

An estimated 5,000 pro-Communist students started the heaviest rioting when they marched on the majlis (parliament) shortly after dawn, in defiance of a government ban on demonstrations.

Nationalists who support Premier Mohammed Mossadegh spilled into the streets and engaged in bloody conflict wherever they met the Reds.

The police and Nationalists together smashed and routed the Reds who shouted "death to Mossadegh" and fought with clubs, stones and fists.

What started as a Communist show of force against Mossadegh's government turned into a bloody Red defeat.

Yelling mobs of Nationalists smashed and burned Communist "peace" headquarters, raided pro-Communist newspapers and a theater and dumped bushels of torn and burned propaganda books and leaflets into the gutter.

Veteran observers believed the Nationalists were taking advantage of the riotous situation to wipe out known centers of the outlawed Communist Tudeh party.

For the first time in weeks the police got really tough, swinging clubs and rifle butts in every direction. Once they quit firing their guns into the air and leveled a volley at a mob of Red attackers.

Tons of water sprayed on the rioters from a score of fire trucks. Police jeeps, and ambulances, their sirens screaming, raced through the crowded streets.

More than 120 rioters were arrested.

Costello Enters Innocent Plea

New York, Dec. 6 (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello pleaded innocent today to a federal indictment charging him with contempt of the United States senate at the televised hearing conducted by its crime committee in New York last March.

The indictment, containing 11 counts, superseded a previous indictment which had nine counts. Most of the charges were based on his refusal to answer questions put to him.

"How do you plead?" asked the weekend with her father, N. N. Daniel.

Mrs. George Christopher and son George Hamilton, have been the recent guests of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. T. L. Bennett in Florence, Alabama.

Mrs. Jim Marshall and daughter, Kathy, of St. Louis are the house guests of her father, J. R. Lemis and Mrs. Bemis.

Mr. and Mrs. Wells Hamby were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chase Stephens in Gurdan.

Court Clerk John Johnson. "Not guilty," the 60-year old underworld figure replied in a throaty voice.

Costello and his attorney, George Wolf, waited in the courtroom for almost an hour before Federal Judge Samuel H. Kaufman called the case. Wolf waived the reading of the indictment.

Judge Kaufman set Jan. 3 as the trial date and gave Costello until Dec. 19 to present pre-trial motions. The maximum sentence on each count is a year in prison and a $1,000 fine.

Kaufman paroled Costello in Wolf's custody until a new bond for $5,000 is written. That is the same amount of bail as under the superseded indictment.

Innocent to Suffer Also in Revenue Probe

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Dec. 6 (AP)—Every day on the outside now is looking like the internal revenue bureau, which has been shaken root and branch by scandal.

It wondered what it must be like to be on the inside looking out. So I talked with a man who works in the bureau. He's a thoughtful man, deeply upset by what's happened, but he still has a sense of humor. I asked him what effect the disclosures about the bureau, involving people little and big, have had on the untouched employees there.

"Have you noticed any change in the attitude of your neighbors toward you? Are they suspicious of you? Are you embarrassed that you're in the bureau?"

"Well," he said, "let me put it this way: A year ago when a neighbor asked me where I worked, I always said the internal revenue bureau. Six months ago when I was asked I said I worked for the treasury department (the bureau is part of the department).

"But now when anybody asks me I just say I work for the government."

We talked a while. And since he knows something about the bureau, I asked him if he thought Anderson was a crook. This particular Mr. Anderson was one of the employees who, as a result of the disclosures, aren't receiving any more.

The man said "I really don't know. How could I? But it's on that very point that the morale of the rest of us in the bureau has suffered a blow."

I asked him what he meant.

"Just that," he said. "All that's

Planter Settles for Mexican Contracts

Tiptonville, Tenn., Dec. 5 (AP)—The labor department has stamped "paid in full" on the case against a planter charged with violating the contract under which he imported Mexican workers.

W. O. Crittenden, a department representative, said W. T. Jamison has complied with directives issued after a joint U.S.-Mexico investigation of workers' complaints. Jamison, he said, paid all bills in connection with squaring away five contract violations, including the purchase of new mattresses, adequate bedding, cooking utensils, housing and minimum wages.

Crittenden told newsmen yesterday that Jamison also will foot expenses for transporting back to the border all workers who wanted to go home before their contract expired.

Jamison said 40 of the 150 men he trucked here from Eagle Pass, Texas, remain on the 800-acre plantation. He declined to estimate the cost of complying with the department's directives.

The probe of living conditions, pay scales and working rules started after 30 Mexicans deserted the plantation Nov. 19 and walked 100 miles to Memphis to complain to the Mexican consul.

In addition to transportation, Jamison also was assessed hotel expenses incurred by the 30 men while they were in Memphis.

About 35 men who walked off the farm at the same time didn't check in with the consul. Apparently, they were making their way home without aid.

happened not only makes us wonder about the people involved so far, but more.

"I think each of us now takes a peak at the man next to him, or the one just above him, and wonder about him."

But the morale of at least some of the bureau's employees must have been a bit rocky before the scandals broke open publicly.

I doubt all of the bureau's more than 50 employees were completely surprised when the exposures started.

Some of them, I'd guess, already had plenty of suspicions about dirty work. It stands to reason they would.

The stuff which has come to light didn't just happen the day it was exposed. Each item of crookedness or indiscretion had a history. And there are a number of such items.

And in a bureau like internal revenue, with those more than 50 employees, it must be hard to keep every act of dishonesty unsuspected.

There are just too many people around, with too many eyes and too many tongues. And once a rumor gets around it doesn't help morale.

One thing is a safe bet: We haven't heard the end of the bureau's scandals.

Join Crime Club Through Mistake

Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 4 (AP)—Four men who said they joined a "crime club" thinking it was a social organization have been freed but four other men and a woman are charged with suspicion of breaking and entering.

Detective Sgt. G. H. Houston said the arrest of three men in a downtown clothing store Sunday resulted in uncovering the "crime club" which had dues paying members, by-laws and trial procedures.

The "clubhouse" proved to be an arsenal of weapons, many stolen from a roadside hardware store a week ago, Houston said.

Those being held were identified as John Gregg, 21; Barry H. Givins, 20; Charles E. McCarty, 29; Timothy J. Nossley, 27, and Ruby Lee McCarty, about 30, wife of Charles McCarty.

Two Jailed for Horse, Buggy Theft

Detroit, Dec. 4 (AP)—In Detroit, of all places, two men have been arrested for a series of "horse and buggy" burglaries.

Detectives John Sly (that's his real name) said Sam Hill, 18, and Gary Lawler, 17, confessed to 60 burglaries — of garages. Each, Sly said, was accomplished with a horse and wagon.

Different colored horses were rented from various junk wagon operators for the burglaries, Sly said, in an attempt to confuse police. It did for months as the pair spread operations over a third of the city.

Sly and Detective Robert Tranter gave Mrs. Oliver Lutz, a 35-year-old housewife credit for breaking the case. Mrs. Lutz looked out her window Monday and saw two junk men carrying stuff out of her garage. She went right out and told them to put that nice water heater back where they got it.

Instead, they leaped into their wagon, lustily whipping Dobbin into a gallop. Mrs. Lutz ran and called police, who overtook the wagon in a vehicle that made Detroit famous.

CIO Steelmen Seek More Funds

Pittsburgh, Dec. 4 (AP)—Steel wage negotiations resumed today with the CIO United Steelworkers laying the groundwork for a new campaign in the industry.

As negotiators for the union and the U. S. Steel Corp. went back into bargaining sessions after a three-day recess, union sources said the USW will make a strong bid to eliminate multiple contracts with various plants of the same company.

Philip Murray, president of both the CIO and the nation-member steelworkers union, is asking big

McCarthy to Pass Chance — He Says

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP) — Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he might give up a chance to go back on the senate appropriations committee — and probably his only chance — to quiz Secretary of State Acheson.

The death of Senator Wherry of Nebraska last week left a Republican vacancy on that key committee, which among other things passes on funds for the state department — the prime target of McCarthy's Communist-in-government charges.

McCarthy generally is regarded as first in line for the seat because he was a member of the committee for a short time earlier this year. He was "bumped" in the senate reorganization which resulted from the death of Senator Vandenberg, Michigan Republican who was replaced by Democrat.

Republican Gov. Val Peterson said he expected to appoint a Republican to succeed Wherry. That would preserve the party division which prevailed before Wherry's death — 50 Democrats and 48 GOP members.

"My present thinking is that I would like to go back on the appropriations committee, but I certainly haven't made up my mind," McCarthy told reporters.

"I might pass up the chance because certain other Republican senators — to whom I am obligated for past favors — have asked me whether I might be willing to stand whether I might be willing to stand propitiations seat."

McCarthy declined to elaborate regarding the past favors he said had been done for him.

At present McCarthy is the senior Republican on the senate expenditures committee, as well as on its investigations subcommittee. He also is a member of the rules committee, which has turned over to a subcommittee for study a resolution by Senator Benton (D-Ore.) calling a question of whether McCarthy should be ousted from the senate.

McCarthy is known to have told friends he would like to go on the senate banking committee — and give up his place on rules — if he decides not to seek the appropriations seat. He formerly was a member of the banking unit, but lost out there when the Democrats regained control of congress in the

No Quotas on 1952 Rice, Corn

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP) — The agriculture department has announced there will be no marketing quotas or acreage allotments on 1952 crops of corn and rice.

Quotas are required — subject to government approval in a referendum — when supplies are determined to be excessive.

In announcing last Wednesday that there will be no quotas or allotments, the department said it declined to supply this year made it essential that no action be taken which might encourage the planting of an increased acreage next year.

The department is required by law to announce by Dec. 1 of each year whether there will be quotas and allotments for the following crop year.

Helicopters have come into use in forestry to spot forest fires.

1941 elections.

McCarthy said that if he does pass up a bid for the appropriations committee, "I will be giving up probably my only chance to question Acheson and other state department officials."

'Politics' Says Byrd of FEPC Issue

Washington, Dec. 5 (AP) — Senator Byrd (D-Va.) accused President Truman today of making "another move to play politics for the next election" in his order aimed at discrimination by firms with government contracts.

Byrd told a reporter, before leaving for what will be an anti-administration speech in Los Angeles tonight, he thinks southern senators will organize to fight the new order as well as to prevent passage of any civil rights legislation in the new session of congress.

The Virginia Senator, who has come out against President Truman's possible candidacy for another White House term, is billed for a discussion, along with Senator Taft (R-Ohio), of "socialism vs. freedom" before the house of delegates of the American Medical Association tonight. Taft is seeking the Republican presidential nomination.

Mr. Truman's action this week is setting up by executive order a committee to try to prevent racial and religious discrimination in job hirings under government contracts apparently caught Dixie critics by surprise. All contracts apparently caught Dixie critics by surprise. All contracts carry a provision that there shall be no discrimination, in hiring workers, because of race, creed or color. The new committee will study ways to encourage compliance; it has no enforcement powers.

Southern only hope of curbing operations of such a committee apparently would be in cutting off funds for members' pay. But in such a showdown, they probably would not get the Republican support they would need to put across a restrictive amendment.

Byrd said the President's action was "right in line with what he has been trying to do through legislation." Southerners have prevented passage of civil rights legislation in the past by senate filibusters.

In Charleston, S. C., there was formed yesterday an organization which backers hope will sweep the South and lead to a solid front opposed to Mr. Truman's policies. Chief Organizer was Stanley P. Morse, president of the Charleston County Citizens League.

The civil rights issue is one on which Republican presidential candidates probably will be forced to take a stand before their party's nominating convention in July. Taft already has said he is against merging the South's separate school system and has plugged for a "voluntary" rather than a compulsory fair employment practices commission (FEPC).

Racial and labor groups have indicated they would like to have Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's views on civil rights and other issues before the convention, if he is going to be a candidate for the GOP nomination.

Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor, set out yesterday for Europe with the announced intention of visiting the general at his headquarters.

Dan Gurnea, Stassen leader here, told reporters he thinks Stassen will get in the race for the Republican nomination no matter what Eisenhower does.

Aboard the liner America, Stassen told reporters his talks with Eisenhower would have a bearing on "what part I shall play in 1952 in the Republican party."

He repeated a previous offer that if Taft would join a movement to draft Eisenhower as the GOP presidential candidate, "I would be willing to join in." Taft has declined comment on this offer.

Stassen said he had to make a "basic decision" about his plans by early January as that is as long as he could wait to tell his supporters what his 1952 position will be.

He said he looked forward to "interesting conversations" with Eisenhower, but he declined to say if he would try to pin the general down on Eisenhower's political plans, if any. He said he did not wish to speculate on the alternatives "when asked if he would support Eisenhower as a GOP candidate."

Young Cancer Victim Dies

Springfield, O., Dec. 5 (AP) — Eight year old Kathleen Gaines, who celebrated her Christmas on Nov. 16, died late last night in Mercy hospital.

A cancer of the brain had afflicted Kathleen for nine months, gradually taking her sight and hearing.

She had a Christmas party with a tree and gifts on Nov. 16 and had received messages of cheer from all parts of the country and from Korea. Among them were telegrams from DR. Ralph Bunche of the United Nations and Walter Winchell, columnist.

Barkley, Wife in Hawaii

Honolulu, Dec. 5 (AP) — Vice President Alben W. Barkley and Mrs. Barkley arrived last night in the summery Hawaiian islands and a military band greeted them with "My Old Kentucky Home."

Barkley's military air transport plane landed at Hickam air force base.

Barkley, who toured Japan and Korea, planned to remain in Hawaii five days. He will speak at Punchbowl National Memorial cemetery on Friday, the 10th anniversary of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.
